Notes on initial observed drive:

Mary was involved in an RTA in January, her mum has booked this course to help her build her confidence again, as she feels the accident has knocked her confidence, and Mary doubts her driving ability. As we set out on the initial drive, Mary showed competent driving skills. Her mirror observations and forward planning skills are at a good standard. Her roundabout planning and positioning are covered well. She drove on various roads, covering urban, rural, dual carriageway and motorways well. Her theory knowledge is very good. I noticed Mary was hesitant at meeting situations, and when turning at junctions, she was apprehensive about her judgments. She wanted guidance on parallel parking. I also asked her to keep a safe gap when following vehicles. Mary is a cautious and courteous driver.

Key areas for development:

- Judgments at Junctions
- Judgments at meeting situations
- Safe gap when following vehicles T.O.T.
- Confidence

Improvements observed:

I gave Mary some pointers to work on: Judgements at junctions If you could walk across the vehicle, then thats a safe gap to turn into the new road. If you say you will jog across, then hold back, as that is not a safe judgement at the junction. Judgments at meeting situations Read the road early and then make the decision to move ahead (LADA). Look, assess, decide, and act if in doubt, leave it out. If you see a bigger vehicle approaching, you then hold back and move when you feel it is safe to drive through. Safe gap T.O.T - When stopping behind vehicles, try to stop so you can see the tyres on tarmac rule this is a safe gap between you and the vehicle ahead of you just in case someone hits you from behind. You will not shunt onto the vehicle ahead of You. Confidence Over the 2 sessions, Mary has felt much more confident driving around. Mary made positive changes to the pointers I gave her, and I feel the more she drives, the more confident she will be. Wishing Mary the very best.
